AT:LAST!

A Great Resource for Assistive Technology Devices and Services

7 pm to 9 pm

The Arc Montgomery County · Bachman Room
11600 Nebel St., Rockville, MD 20852

Many members of MCASA may not be aware of the many services and resources: such as adapted toys and games as well as educational and recreational software that are available to them through AT:LAST, Inc., a totally non-profit organization.

The mission is to break down the barriers that may prevent an individual from acquiring and using assistive technologies that foster greater communication, independence, and inclusion.

Learn how AT:LAST's:

- ✓ cooperative buying service has saved Marylanders over $2 million on their AT purchases
- ✓ AT Learning Center is used for extensive training activities for parents, educators, and service providers
- ✓ AT Demo Center provides awareness of the continuum of products available
- ✓ staff provide consultations and evaluations to aid in the selection of appropriate AT
- ✓ rental program allows you to "try before you buy"

Presenters include Janice Caro and Mimi Silverman providing the "Parent's Perspective" on this resource as well as Susan Garber, Founder and Executive Director.
